

Celebrate National Underwear Day with M&S!

Submitted by: Propellernet

Thursday, 4 August 2011

Join M&S, the UK's biggest lingerie

(<http://www.marksandspencer.com/Lingerie-Underwear-Womens/b/43233030>) retailer, and celebrate all things underwear! Selling over 21 millions bras a year and 60 million pairs of knickers M&S are a knowledgeable underwear force!

The 5th of August 2011 is officially National Underwear Day-a day to really take a look at your underwear drawer and ask "Is my underwear really 'working' for me?"

Ask yourself "do I have the right shapewear for my figure and needs?", "are those greying knickers ready for the bin?", "Do I wear the right size bra?" women ask themselves these questions every day and what better way to get a grip on your undies than by celebrating NUD with M&S!

In anticipation of NUD M&S are appealing to all women to clear out their drawers and really think about their underwear purchases! On the 5th of August we want every woman from office worker to stay at home mums, to wear their best undies! Don't save that beautiful silk set for those special occasions-wear them on the 5th with confidence.

Don't get caught out thinking that just because other people can't see your underwear, it doesn't matter how it looks! NUD hopes to change this opinion with M&S's help!