(United Kingdom 9th December) Readers at Mad About Bingo revelled in delight this week as news reached them of the new Christmas time promotions taking place at CheekyBingo.com (<http://madaboutbingo.co.uk/bingo-reviews/cheeky-bingo/>). Amongst the promotions are a number of bingo (<http://madaboutbingo.co.uk/>) deals and offers that are sure to make the countdown even more exciting than usual including Cheeky's Advent Calendar which will see the site giveaway increasingly impressive prizes as the holiday edge closer and closer.

The prizes on offer will range from winning £50 free bingo vouchers to items like Xbox 360's and Plasma TV's. For more information on the promotions happening at the site players can use the pages of Mad About Bingo where daily news of the most exciting promotions in online bingo are posted by the sites reporters.

The site also offers a price comparison service helping players to find the best value for money gaming available on the web today. There's also the chance to read extensive reviews on many sites, ideal for players looking for something fresh and exciting.

Like most sites in the online bingo industry players can now join Mad About Bingo on Facebook and Twitter. This service has become increasingly popular with the sites readers as it offers an update service that guarantees players never miss out on a bargain or the chance to win a fantastic prize. It also offers the chance to forum with other players and discuss the upcoming games happening around the web.
