Two more countries on board! Anderman Ceramics (<http://www.earthwaterfire.com>) adds another two countries to its growing list of those covered. With customers all over the world, now it's time for Anderman Ceramics to add Hungary and Greece to its growing list of countries supplied to.

The constant growth of Anderman Ceramics reinforces its leadership as a worldwide supplier of advanced technical ceramics!

Sharron Wale is the sales person responsible for the success in these two new countries. The Anderman Ceramics international sales team led by Gary Hateley, now manage customers across more than 42 countries.

One of the reasons for Anderman Ceramics' success is the constant effort to get the best partners and alliances in the advanced technical ceramics world to be able to offer the best solutions to their customers.

Seeking for the BEST is the secret for Anderman Ceramics' international success!

New partnerships are currently being forged and will be revealed very soon, ensuring the continued effective growth of the business.

Anderman Ceramics has now been in existence for 65 years and during those years its main focus has been to find the ideal solution for the customers, helping them to increase and facilitate their own business.

This is the commitment of Anderman Ceramics as a worldwide supplier of advanced technical ceramics and, once again, proved by the addition of new customers in these two new countries, Hungary and Greece.

Again, Anderman Ceramics is rewarded for its high levels of products and service quality!
