(United Kingdom – 25th April 2012) It is often the case that photographs are taken, uploaded and forever lost on social media sites. Photos on Canvas (<http://www.photosoncanvas.net/>) is offering an innovative alternative to displaying photographs which allows people to showcase their cherished memories in a beautifully stylish way.

Printing photographs on to canvas prints has become increasingly popular of late. Perfect as art work for the home or as a unique gift, canvas prints from Photos on Canvas are available in a diverse range of choices. Photos on Canvas customers can upload their photographs with the easy upload feature on the site and edit their photograph according to personal preference.

There is plenty of choice when it comes to editing and creating a bright and colourful print. The classic canvas print is ideal for anyone who thinks their photograph is perfect as it is whilst the split panel canvas are popular for those with landscape photographs or larger rooms.

Photos on Canvas also provides customers a choice of free custom effects. Colour is the obvious choice but for anyone that wishes to create a nostalgic or intense looking print, the black and white or sepia custom effects are also available.

Once customers have created their print, they simply wait whilst the team creates their stunning print. Customers who order before 2pm will receive their canvas print the very next day for free. What's more, all prints come with a ten year guarantee because the team are so sure of their quality.
