Free EPOS System (<http://www.trcepos.ie/retail-software-products>) Scorecard Available to Help Retailers Determine What They Need in an EPOS to Grow their Retail Business

Total Retail Control (TRC) (<http://www.trcepos.ie/>), an expert in retail EPOS systems and EPOS software in the Ireland and UK retail markets, is pleased to introduce the Do I Need a New EPOS System? (<http://www.trcepos.ie/do-i-need-epos-system-retail>) Scorecard. The free EPOS system scorecard will help retailers evaluate their retail business needs to help determine what they should consider in a new EPOS system. Whether retailers are considering purchasing an EPOS system for the first time or upgrading and existing system, the Do I Need a New EPOS System? Scorecard is the perfect tool to allow retailers to get visibility into the key retail business areas so they can determine what they need in an EPOS system to grow their business.

“We want to educate retailers by providing them with tools like the Do I Need a New EPOS System? Scorecard. This scorecard walks the retailer through the five key areas: controlling retail stock (<http://www.trcepos.ie/controlling-retail-stock>), managing retail staff (<http://www.trcepos.ie/managing-retail-staff>), controlling retail cash (<http://www.trcepos.ie/controlling-retail-cash>), managing retail customers (<http://www.trcepos.ie/managing-retail-customers>) and managing retail suppliers (<http://www.trcepos.ie/managing-retail-suppliers>) managing retail suppliers,” says Gavin Peacock, CEO, TRC. “It helps retailers assess their current visibility in these critical five areas and determine how important more visibility is to them.”

Peacock continues, “In fully assessing the situation, retailers can gain a clear understanding of what they need to focus on when implementing a new or upgraded EPOS system. A new EPOS system which focuses on the retailer’s specific needs is the most important tool in a retailer’s arsenal to grow their retail business profit.”
