Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Solutions Expert Joins Microsoft Gold Partner Hitachi Solutions (<http://www.hitachisolutions-eu.com>)

London, 07 June 2012

Hitachi Solutions (<http://www.hitachisolutions-eu.com>), the Microsoft Dynamics solutions and services arm of Hitachi, is strengthening its industry and Microsoft Dynamics expertise with the appointment of Tim Rowe to its consulting team. A qualified accountant, with a background at PWC and Microsoft, Tim has spent the last fourteen years' as a business applications specialist assisting companies in many industries including construction, service management, financial services and the public sector. He joins Hitachi Solutions to advise its customers on how best to utilise the flexible and functionally rich Microsoft Dynamics Solutions within their organisations.

"Having worked for Microsoft I know most of the current Dynamics partners. I chose to join Hitachi Solutions because they have an outstanding team who are totally focused on delivering the best result for their customers. They have an excellent working relationship with Microsoft which ensures they have a thorough knowledge of the Dynamics products and how best to utilise them. I relish joining this passionate team and look forward to helping them to deliver results to our customers." Comments Tim Rowe at Hitachi Solutions.

"We are excited to have someone with Tim's experience and capability joining the team in the UK. From the outset our goal has been to recruit the best and brightest Microsoft Dynamics specialists to our global Dynamics practice. Tim is evidence of our continued commitment to growing our UK and European capability and I want to welcome him to our team and wish him every success." Concludes Steve French Vice President at Hitachi Solutions.
