

UK Flooring Direct Provides Free Samples on Wide Range of Flooring Products

Submitted by: Inside Online Marketing
Wednesday, 13 June 2012

(United Kingdom – 13th June 2012) A rising number of Brits are choosing to make their own home improvements this season as the nation continues to feel the squeeze. Offering competitive prices on premium products, UK Flooring Direct has over 25 years experience in the industry and is providing customers with all they need to know on purchasing and installing their own flooring products, be it solid wood, engineered wood or laminate flooring products.

Boasting a wealth of experience, the team at UK Flooring Direct are always happy to help their customers find the best choice of flooring for their home. The Advice Centre is packed with friendly advice on choosing, installing and maintaining flooring products from UKFD, whilst the team are also available to talk via email, telephone and online chat.

The diverse range of solid wood, engineered wood and laminate wood flooring products, amongst many other options provide homeowners with plenty of choice when it comes to redecorating their home. Click here (www.ukflooringdirect.co.uk) to browse the full range. Whilst real wood flooring has always been popular, many customers on a budget have chosen laminate wood flooring as a cheaper alternative. Before purchase, UK Flooring Direct offers customers the opportunity to order free samples. The free samples feature has proven particularly popular this season as homeowners prepare for an interior design makeover.

So confident of the quality of their products, UKFD allow customers to see a taster of what is to come. They can get a real idea of the look, feel and colour of their product before committing to purchase.

Browse the full range of real wood, engineered wood and laminate wood products by visiting UK Flooring Direct at UKFlooringDirect.co.uk.