

Intuitive Business Intelligence Partners with Rimilia to Fulfil Growing Demand for Integrated BI Dashboards in Finance Automation Systems

Submitted by: Intuitive Business Intelligence

Friday, 15 June 2012

Award-winning business intelligence dashboard software author, Intuitive Business Intelligence, (www.intuitivebusinessintelligence.com) has today announced a strategic partnership with Rimilia, (www.rimilia.com), the author of award-winning financial processing and cash allocation software, Alloc8. The partnership fulfils the growing demand for advanced dashboard solutions that harness critical information within existing systems, empowering senior managers with a single, consolidated view of financial performance to improve cashflow, effectively manage risk and dramatically reduce costs.

Intuitive Dashboards fully integrates with Rimilia's accounts receivable automation solution, Alloc8, providing users with instant, real-time visibility of their cash allocation performance against target and by customer, presented in a highly-graphical format. The dashboard solution provides proactive alerts to potential issues such as non-payments and under-payments. It also enables users to drill-down to view relevant and detailed information about the root cause of issues in a few quick mouse clicks, ensuring that immediate corrective action can be taken.

Steve Richardson, Commercial Director at Rimilia, comments, "Today's commercially-focused Finance Director wants instant access to operational and financial KPIs, so they gain a holistic perspective of performance. Intuitive Dashboards allows our clients to instantly review their performance against plan, spot trends, receive proactive alerts to potential shortfalls and drill-down to identify the root cause with just a few mouse-clicks. Using Intuitive Dashboards, our clients can now view the most relevant information they need, presented in real-time and with the minimum of effort."

Richardson continues, "We are responding to an increasing demand from our clients for business intelligence dashboards that tightly integrate into their existing accounting and financial management systems. Intuitive Business Intelligence impressed us with their market-leading reputation and the advanced functionality of Intuitive Dashboards. Quite simply, it is vastly superior to any other dashboard solution currently available and we're delighted to be partnering with Intuitive Business Intelligence as our business intelligence dashboard partner."

Tony Bray, Managing Director of Intuitive Business Intelligence Ltd comments, "Finance departments need immediate, real-time access to the most relevant management information so they can immediately spot issues or opportunities. Intuitive Dashboards provides a highly intuitive way to visualise, manage and track their performance, empowering business users with real-time access to the most critical information for faster, more accurate decision-making. Rimilia's financial software expertise and reputation for excellence combined with our leading-edge technology are an ideal fit, providing their customers with the very best solution to meet their business intelligence dashboard needs."

-Ends-

Notes to Editor

About Intuitive Business Intelligence

Intuitive Business Intelligence Limited (www.intuitivebusinessintelligence.com) is a leading technology innovator and the author of Intuitive Dashboards, the next generation of advanced Business Intelligence (BI) and data visualisation software. Their award-winning flagship product, Intuitive Dashboards, enables organisations to make faster and more accurate decisions, by bringing together critical information from multiple sources and presenting it in an easy-to-understand, interactive dashboard format. Web-based so can it be used on-site or in the Cloud, Intuitive Dashboards is easy-to-use, highly visual and quick to implement, swiftly delivering rapid return on investment. Intuitive Business Intelligence is headquartered in Manchester, United Kingdom with offices throughout the UK, as well as the US.

About Rimilia

Rimilia are payment automation solutions experts, excelling in the design, development and implementation of product-driven technologies and solutions that automate and drive value from existing manually-intensive processes. In addition to standard “out of the box” software products, Rimilia also undertake process analysis and redesign, bespoke software design, build and implementation. Their award-winning flagship product, Alloc8, enables an organisation’s financial department to more easily cope with cash receipts by ensuring that incoming cash receipts are allocated automatically and cleared exceptionally quickly, streamlining the accounts receivable process, reducing costs and increasing financial control.

For further information, contact:

Carrie Hamer, Intuitive Business Intelligence

e: carrie.hamer@intuitivebi.com

t: +44 (0)7554 881717

Steve Richardson, Rimilia

e: steve.richardson@rimilia.com

t: +44 (0)7743 718969