Law Firm To Offer Free Counselling For House Buyers SOLICITOR ADDS TEA AND SYMPATHY TO ITS SERVICES

Cotswold-based law firm, Clutton Cox, is offering clients going through the process of buying and selling their home a FREE sympathetic ear.

Moving house is recognised as one of life's most stressful events and, with the added problem of today's economic climate, the Chipping Sodbury firm believes people need both a personal and professional approach during a sale or a purchase.

Clutton Cox is encouraging clients to pick up the phone or pop into the offices and talk through any issues related to their move – legal or otherwise.

Paul Hajek, principal of www.cluttoncox.co.uk, takes up the story:

“Buying or selling can be a scary time as well as a costly affair. People often need to chat about something that's worrying them and find it easier to be candid with someone other than their partner, family member or friends.

Whilst it could be a concern about their property, it could equally as well be about their children moving school or even how the family cat will adjust. Having been in the business for over 30 years, we've dealt with every possible situation and can offer sound advice.

We're here to offer tea, biscuits and a shoulder to cry on - whatever the problem. Apart from myself, the Clutton Cox team comprises women only and they're much better at listening than men”.

Paul has also written a self-help book for people moving house entitled “Don't Even Think Of Buying & Selling Your Home Until You've Read This Book”. It's packed with useful advice as well as a host of stress-busting tips and is also something Clutton Cox gives to all its customers free of charge.
