

Photo to Canvas Proves Popular with Homeowners Looking for Unique Art

Submitted by: Inside Online Marketing

Friday, 20 July 2012

(United Kingdom – 19th July 2012) In the modern household, homeowners are always on the lookout for something new and original in which to decorate their homes. This season, canvas prints from www.photo-to-canvas.net (<http://www.photo-to-canvas.net>) are proving popular, not only for their fantastic style but also for their competitive prices.

In the current economic climate, homeowners are increasingly aware of their spends. Looking for cheaper ways to decorate their homes in order to brighten up dull interiors, people are opting for the increasingly popular canvas prints as a cheap alternative to add colour and personality to the home.

Photo to Canvas offers a unique and easy to use upload service which allows people to upload their personal photographs on to the site. From there, it is possible to transform photographs into stunning canvas prints, perfect for the home or as unique gifts.

There are plenty of options available to make canvas prints eye-catching and fun. The colour, black and white and sepia effects are perfect for that added originality whilst the border edge choices enable homeowners to choose a style suited to their homes.

For those looking for help to create canvas prints on the site, the small and friendly team are always happy to help. They offer free advice all day, every day on creating prints as well as information on the materials used and the service provided.

Shoppers ordering their canvas print before 2pm will receive it the very next day, free of charge. Anyone looking for an alternative way to decorate their home can visit the site for more information. Alternatively, click here (<http://www.photo-to-canvas.net/products/>) to navigate straight to Photo to Canvas.