m-hance, a leading provider of innovative business software solutions to mid-sized organisations, announces the launch of Financials to Go (FTG), its new flexible cloud-based accounting solution for SMEs. Based on established world class Microsoft technology, FTG is a hosted private cloud solution which can be deployed rapidly in five days or less and offers SMEs reliable and cost effective financial management to drive efficiency savings. FTG is also fully compatible with smartphones and mobile devices, enabling financial information to be accessed securely and remotely from anywhere in the world.

FTG (<http://www.financialstogo.co.uk>) has been developed with a flexible upgrade path specifically tailored towards new business start-ups, expanding SMEs or for those wishing to leave their current accounting solution provider (Sage, Quickbooks, Netsuite etc). Designed with easy-to-use and familiar MS Word and MS Outlook templates, FTG comes with a full-range of intuitive out-of-the-box functionality built on trusted technology which can be accessed via the cloud. Onsite training is also provided by m-hance's experienced team of consultants with additional support available via its web-based portal.

Andrew Hayward, Managing Director of m-hance, comments, "Good, solid financial management is the cornerstone of a healthy and successful business and so it is essential that SMEs have a solution that they can rely on. FTG has been specifically developed by m-hance to enable SMEs to be quickly up and running with a cost effective financial management solution via the cloud that is scalable to grow with them, but one that is also trustworthy and easy-to-use."

Due to advancements in cloud technology, SMEs no longer need to feel burdened by outdated and inefficient accounting solutions. Available with a minimum contract length of one-year for a low-cost monthly fee, SMEs switching to FTG (<http://www.financialstogo.co.uk>) have the flexibility of not being locked-in to purchasing the solution outright and can significantly reduce their IT support and maintenance costs, further improving efficiency.

Hayward continues, "We have developed FTG with a clear and scalable upgrade path, ensuring users can move on up as their business does. This makes it an ideal choice for SMEs that have outgrown their existing accounting system and who don't typically have the resources to purchase and support a new in-house solution. In addition as FTG is hosted in m-hance's UK-based data centre SMEs can be reassured that their data is both highly secure and compliant, leaving them free to concentrate on innovation and other value added projects."
