Computers in Personnel (CIPHR), a leading supplier of HR Software, Payroll, Absence and Recruitment Solutions, announces new functionality to its SaaS-delivered HR software solution, CIPHR+. It introduces the company's new branding and style along with some compelling new features, including the optional Time Off In Lieu (TOIL) functionality and Timesheets module. The system aims to maximise management information and reporting as well as deliver effective employee engagement across all aspects of employee interaction. Incorporated within the system is enhanced process and workflow functionality to free up management time for more strategic HR tasks.

Time Off In Lieu (TOIL)

CIPHR TOIL gives managers, employees and HR the ability to actively track and monitor how much time off in lieu is outstanding at any particular time. It allows users to request and use TOIL time in hours, enables managers/HR to verify these requests and it lets CIPHR users remove hours from individuals' TOIL balances.

Timesheets

This module is for employees to enter timesheets on a weekly basis and to provide a breakdown of their time spent against various activities, managing and assigning time to clients / projects. It has been developed in collaboration with a number of existing clients.

Speaking about the new functionality within CIPHR, Chris Berry, managing director of Computers in Personnel, says, "We have been transforming HR departments for years and SaaS has been one of the most radical developments to date, bringing compelling benefits to our customers. CIPHR+ brings some exciting additional new functionality that has been developed by us in response to customer feedback. This new functionality is offered in our SaaS solution and our user-friendly and secure HR Portal will continue to be improved with user input."

CIPHR+ provides users with an easy to use online resource that is available to anyone, anywhere, and at any time. Internet delivery means users benefit from a fast and effective implementation process & easy access to support services. The system helps organisations to meet their legislative compliance requirements through automation of a number of key HR activities which is also proven to reduce routine admin costs. Furthermore, improved employee/manager communication results in enhanced people management.
