

Back to School with a Little Help

Submitted by: Little Helper

Friday, 10 August 2012

'Fun, Funky and Safe' brand Little Helper has launched its new two-seater FunStation Duo toddler desk and chair set, just in time for the new school year.

Perfect for homework or a spot of creativity, Little Helper has taken the success of its FunStation Solo for one child and developed another for two children with the design-led yet practical FunStation Duo. Using all the styling cues of the multi award-winning FunPod® (<http://www.littlehelper.co.uk>), this is not just a kid's desk but a piece of stylish furniture.

Designed with budding artists in mind, the new fun and funky FunStation Duo comes with tabletop desk, two chairs and a penholder but with a contemporary designer twist. Two children can comfortably sit at the FunStation Duo with A4 paper, enabling them to interact, play and learn together.

The FunStation Duo meets all international safety standards, and is now available in three colour schemes 'Natural', 'Natural and Red' and 'Walnut' to complement today's living spaces.

SRP £129.99. Available at www.amazon.co.uk and www.mothercare.com

Editors notes:

- For more information, contact kim.johnson@littlehelper.co.uk
- Tel: 01909 774606
- Samples available for reviews or competitions while stocks last.