Prince Harry's latest debauchery in Las Vegas will see an increase in bookings from stag parties looking to take their celebrations to the ultimate stag party destination predict the UK's leading stag and hen specialist, Redseven.

To cater to this demand, Redseven have launched the "Crown Jewels" stag party package so their customers can party like Harry. As well as return flights to Las Vegas with Virgin Atlantic, the package includes limo return transfers, 4 nights' accommodation at the MGM hotel, strip club VIP entrance with limo transfers from the hotel and a pool party at MGM Grand Resort and Casino's Wet Republic where Prince Harry was photographed revelling with friends. This includes a day bed and $500 drinks voucher per 6 people.

Prince Harry hit the news this week after pictures were released from celebrity website TMZ of Harry nude appearing to be playing a game of strip pool.

Ian Lucas, founder and CEO of Redseven said "Las Vegas has always been a popular stag party destination however, with Prince Harry's recent visit; we predict we will see an increase in enquiries from stag groups so this package will give those looking for the ultimate stag do (<http://www.redsevenleisure.co.uk/stag-weekends.php>) the chance to have an unforgettable time like Harry did."

The appeal of Las Vegas comes from its reputation as an extravagant party city which is a high priority for a lot of stag groups. The "Crown Jewels" stag package is available exclusively with Redseven.
