London, UK, 4 September 2012 Becrypt (<http://www.becrypt.com>), specialist supplier of certified cyber security solutions to Government, public sector and industry, has appointment Brett Denly to the position of Executive Vice President for Sales & Marketing. Denly will lead the company's planned expansion into new vertical markets and extend its geographic reach globally, building on Becrypt's solid reputation for providing robust products for the most challenging of security environments.

Part of Denly's new role will be to boost product management within Becrypt to support the development of products and services for specific vertical markets. These include sectors such as financial services, utilities, and other security conscious commercial industries that are increasingly under threat from cyber crime, and will include others as demand for defence against cyber criminals increases.

Before joining Becrypt Denly held a variety of posts at Corel Corporation, based in the UK and North America. These included global and EMEA vice president level appointments for sales, marketing and product management functions.

When asked about joining Becrypt Denly commented: "Becrypt has an impressive track record within the UK public sector market space. I see a superb opportunity to take Becrypt's award winning cyber security technology into new vertical markets, while driving further growth in our existing operations in the US, EMEA and the Far East. I believe that this will provide an excellent platform for growth over the coming years, and I'm looking forward to the challenges that this will bring."

Bernard Parsons, CEO of Becrypt said; "We have been working with Brett for several months now and are convinced that he is the ideal candidate for this new role at Becrypt. Brett's comprehensive experience within the software industry of global sales and marketing, along with his product management skills, will be instrumental in helping Becrypt to achieve our aggressive growth plans for the coming years."
