Ely, England, 17 September 2012 – The latest title by IT Governance Publishing is just one example of how this specialist publisher is expanding its portfolio of blue chip books.

The publication in August 2012 of Once more unto the Breach: Managing information security in an uncertain world (http://www.itgovernance.co.uk/products/3901) provides an inside view of the world of information security management by Andrea C Simmons, an information governance academic and journalist with extensive experience in the private and the public sectors.

A practical learning tool and invaluable ongoing reference guide, Once more unto the Breach also marks the latest move by IT Governance Publishing (http://www.itgovernancepublishing.co.uk/) (ITGP) in its development of a leading portfolio by quality authors.

The specialist publishing arm of IT Governance (http://www.itgovernance.co.uk/), ITGP is a major player in the fields of information security, governance, risk and compliance, ITIL, ITSM and business management skills.

Insightful and authoritative, ITGP specialises in publications that are the fruit of partnerships with industry-insider authors and blue chip companies, such as Accenture, Capgemini, CA Technologies and Deloitte.

Alan Calder, the Chief Executive of IT Governance, says: "Our latest additions to ITGP's unrivalled specialist portfolio underline the fact that we are the ideal partner for organisations of all sizes and specialisations that want to publish their own books and share thought leadership in this ever-growing market".

Other new ITGP titles for 2012 include the 2nd edition of Running IT like a Business: Accenture's Step-by-Step Guide (http://www.itgovernance.co.uk/products/3559), dedicated to uncovering the secrets of Accenture's award-winning IT function and helping readers apply them to their own businesses.

Author Robert E Kress, who published his first title with ITGP in 2010, is the COO of Accenture's high-performance Information Technology organisation, which supports and advances the business goals of a $22 billion company with more than 215,000 employees in 52 countries.
