Anglian Home Improvements has launched a competition that will see one lucky homeowner win £7,000 of energy efficient windows just by sharing their top energy saving tips online.

Announced to mark the start of Big Energy Saving Week, which runs from 22 to 27 October, the competition offers a perfect way to improve the energy efficiency of your home, keeping your house warmer and your bills lower at a time when energy prices are on the increase yet again.

In a recent survey by Anglian Home Improvements, 94% of UK homeowners asked said they want to become more energy efficient, yet only 37% currently rate themselves as such. Despite the fact that around 30% of a home's heat is lost through windows and doors, 40% of us still don't have energy efficient windows (http://www.anglianhome.co.uk/windows/ecogain_windows/) or doors – so here's a perfect opportunity to put that right.

To be in with a chance of winning, all you have to do is share your top energy-saving tips with Anglian via Twitter, Google+ or Pinterest using the hashtag #BESW, or post them on the Anglian blog. Your ideas, gadgets and designs can be original, creative, unusual or downright quirky. A selection of the tips received will be showcased on the Big Energy Saving Week (<http://bit.ly/QAbgvO>) page of the Anglian Home Improvements website so you can pick up some useful hints and ideas there too.

Anglian's energy saving, industry leading windows offer superb performance. They are completely draught-free when closed and keep heat loss (<http://www.anglianhome.co.uk/windows/thelatesttechnology/savingyoumoney/>) to a minimum, which means the amount of energy needed to keep your house warm is reduced – and that's good both for the environment and your bank balance.

The competition is open to UK homeowners and full terms and conditions can be found on the Anglian Home Improvements website.
