Get your ice skates on for some festive fun in Bath

If you go down to Royal Victoria Park in Bath this winter you're in for a big surprise! A magical new attraction opens in central Bath on the 23 November 2012. It's time to put your skates on as the city gets its own real ice rink for the festive season.

Bath on Ice (<http://www.bathonice.com>) will be an exciting addition to the city's Christmas attractions with opportunities for people of all ages to get into the festive spirit and take to the ice. The 500 sqm real ice skating rink adds a new dimension to this year's celebrations.

Bath on Ice Director Simon Smith said "We're absolutely delighted to offer people the chance to enjoy open-air skating on a real ice rink in the centre of Bath. Located right below the Royal Crescent, and with magical lighting adding to this unique experience, we hope we can create an event that Bath can be proud of. It is the perfect Christmas activity and will really get you in the mood for the festive season."

Bath on Ice will provide top quality skates, an indoor skate changing area, indoor and outdoor viewing areas, ice stewards and push- along aids for children.

Festive ringside refreshments will also be available including hot chocolate and melted marshmallows, roasted chestnuts and plenty of other heart-warming scrumptious treats.

The Rink will be open daily from 10am until 9pm starting Friday 23 November 2012 until Sunday 6 January 2013 with one-hour sessions costing from just £7 per person including skate hire. Gift vouchers are also available for purchase. Group rates are being offered with special discounts for Christmas parties, students and children. The rink is also available for exclusive use.

Readers offers are available on discounted rates for tickets during off peak sessions.
