The Falcondale Hotel in Lampeter is inviting guests to enjoy 'The Fall' in West Wales by launching Autumn Gold Deals for October and November. The country house, which is located at the top of a secluded valley just outside the university town, enjoys spectacular views throughout the seasons, but is especially great for a UK short break (<http://www.visitwales.co.uk>) in the autumn.

"It doesn't matter whether you visit in summer or winter as the snow is as splendid as the bright sunshine," said Meleri Morgan, the hotel's reception manager. "Guests can sit in the heated conservatory in autumn and watch the wind blowing in the trees and even see the rain starting at the other end of the valley before reaching The Falcondale itself.

"No country house is complete unless it has an open fire and lounge area are perfect for cosying-up with a pot of tea and homemade Welsh cakes."

The hotel is located within 14 acres of lawns and woodland, perfect for guests who like to walk (<http://www.visitwales.co.uk/active/>) their dog. Or there are walks within the area at Llanerchaeron, the Welsh Coastal Path, Brechfa Forest, Cambrian Mountains and lots more.

"Guests have noted in our bird watching book that they have recently seen red kites, chaffinch, swallows, chiff chaff, house martins, buzzards and magpies in the area," said Meleri. "Another guest told me this morning that their dog came across a hedgehog, which wisely curled up for protection."

Dining at The Falcondale offers serious and stylish luxury without pretension. A relaxed, award-winning restaurant offers the best of seasonal local produce and an excellent wine list.

The restaurant has been awarded two AA rosettes for five years running. As low food miles are an integral feature of the menus and part of the hotel's green policy, many dishes include herbs and salad greens the kitchen garden.

The county of Ceredigion offers a rich larder, providing lobster, crab, sea bass, sewin, Welsh Black beef and Welsh Lamb, while neighbouring Carmarthenshire provides speciality cheeses and excellent cured ham.
