Attention Bamforth buffs! Leading personalised gifts site GoneDigging (<http://www.gonedigging.co.uk/>) has just launched an impossibly funny range of personalised Bamforth gifts (<http://www.gonedigging.co.uk/personalised-saucy-postcard-gifts/>), sure to give anyone a giggle or two.

Well known for his suggestive postcards displaying bosomy women, hen-pecked hubbies and cheeky words, James Bamforth's spicy humour is entrenched in our British culture as much as musicals, railways and Carry On films.

Are you – or is someone you know – a wistful Bamforth fan? Yes? Great. GoneDigging has just unveiled its cracking collection of personalised saucy postcard gifts – including postcards, calendars, mugs and more – complete with naughty words, sexual innuendos, not to mention side-splittingly funny cartoon images from the much-admired Bamforth Vintage Collection.

Better still, all the products from GoneDigging's Bamforth range can be personalised with a name and message, offering a nostalgic throwback to the bawdy Bamforth humour and the seaside holidays of the 1940's, 50's and 60's...

Personalised Saucy Postcard Mugs (<http://www.gonedigging.co.uk/personalised-saucy-postcard-mugs/>) – from £10.99

Phwoar! GoneDigging's racy personalised saucy postcard mugs definitely have what they call the "ooh la la" factor and will ensure anyone's tea or coffee break is extra hot 'n' steamy by reminding them of the voluptuous nurses, wives and hen-pecked husbands who regularly featured on the Bamforth postcards. More impressively, they can be personalised with any name, and in some cases a beverage.
