

Christmas Gifts for Drivers, TV addicts and DIYers

Submitted by: Starfish Communications

Tuesday, 13 November 2012

---

Whether you're on the road this Christmas, slumped in front of the TV or fancy a bit of DIY, our gift guide has something for you....

Driving to the in-laws on Boxing Day? Get there stress-free with a new sat nav! The TomTom Via 130 (GBP129.99 from Halfords) has a "Speak & Go" function so you can control it with your voice – just say an address or 'take me home' and it plans the route straight away. Bluetooth enables you to make and answer calls safely whilst driving, and advance lane guidance gives clear directions when navigating difficult junctions. It uses travel info shared by millions of drivers to get the best routes and most accurate arrival times, whatever the time of day. And in a special Christmas promotion, TomTom is offering free lifetime maps on all Via devices – worth GBP79.99. For the lifetime of the product, you'll be able to download four brand new maps every year, totally free.

Size does matter... The TomTom Start 60 (GBP169.99 from Halfords) boasts a 6" screen, their biggest yet. Resolution is really sharp, whilst larger menus and buttons make inputting even simpler. It can be mounted on the dashboard as well as the windscreen. Parking Assist helps you to find car parks at your destination and spoken street names make turnings clearer. Pre-loaded with maps of 45 countries across Europe, you get free daily map changes from the TomTom Map Share community. The TomTom Via 130 and Start 60 are both a Which? "Best Buy".

One For All has a range of handy accessories to brighten up your TV viewing this Christmas. Want to watch satellite/cable or a late night DVD in bed, but your set-top box is in the lounge? The Wireless TV Sender (GBP59.99 from Currys, PC World and amazon.co.uk) distributes signals around your home without the need for messy cabling or a second receiver. The remote control will work in the bedroom too - so you can pause, rewind and record as normal, without going near the main TV.

If you don't have satellite or cable, you can still watch all the Christmas movies in glorious HD or 3D! The SV9335 indoor aerial (GBP29.99 from amazon.co.uk) gives great reception up to Full HD and 3D (so long as your TV is Freeview HD or 3D compatible). Its patch technology offers up to 30% more bandwidth than traditional aerials, and four-stage filtering removes interference from mobile phones and wifi. It comes in a stylish, brushed aluminium finish and is just 26x26x2cm in size. Also ideal for second and third TV sets, where you don't have a connection to the rooftop aerial.

Buying a gift for the DIY enthusiast in your life? The Dremel 3000 Limited Edition Tool Box (GBP89.99 from dremel-direct.com and amazon.co.uk) is stuffed full of goodies. The Dremel 3000 multi-tool is essential for any project that involves cutting, grinding, sanding, routing, drilling and pretty much everything else. The tool box also includes 45 easy-to-change accessories plus six attachments such as a flexshaft for detailed work and a line & circle cutter. Now there's no excuse for not getting down to those repair and maintenance jobs or home improvements!

For hobbyists and crafters, look no further than the Dremel 7700 Decorating Kit (GBP44.99 from dremel-direct.com and amazon.co.uk). Ideal for creating home decorations, crafts or light DIY tasks, the kit includes the compact and lightweight Dremel 7700 cordless dual-speed multi-tool. There are also 20 multi-purpose accessories, five engraving accessories and three creative engraving templates, all packaged in an attractive tool box. It's going to be a busy and creative New Year!

For high res images, please contact Julien Speed on speed@starfishcommunications.com