Chak 89, London's award winning Indian Restaurant was the talk of the town on Sunday. Chelsea players, David Luiz, Oscar, Lucas Piazon, Victor Moses together with Arsenal player, Gervinho, turned up to tuck into their favourite Indian curry.

The Chelsea players, who had just thrashed Aston Villa 8-0, were still in a joyous mood, laughing and joking while they ordered their meal.

Other diners were shocked and gobsmacked to see the players just walk into Chak 89 and head straight for the private booth table, used by many celebrities.

Frank Khalid, owner of Chak 89, who is also a big Chelsea fan, was overwhelmed with excitement and thrilled to see the Chelsea players having a good time tucking into an array of traditional Indian dishes that Chak 89 are famous for. Such was the ambience on Sunday that everyone in Chak 89 at the time cheered and clapped as the players went round to see other diners and have their photos taken.

Sitting back at their table, the waiter asked them what they thought of the food, they were all so happy that they signed the famous Chak 89 board showing appreciation for the beautiful food, service and quality.

For Chak 89 it was just another day in a place which is "A Spice above the Rest"
