More and more schools are considering implementing one-to-one digital learning in the classroom. But how much does it cost exactly? And what's the best option for funding the tablets you require?

WestWon Education (<http://WestWonEducation.co.uk>) has launched a free online iPad calculator, which instantly provides the answers. It also calculates the amount parents would need to donate each month to cover the cost of their child's iPad for schools thinking of setting up a contribution scheme.

To use the calculator, simply go to the iPad calculator (<http://www.westwoneducation.co.uk>) on the WestWon Education home page and select your preferred iPad model, the period over which you would like to pay for your iPads and the number of devices you require: then hit the 'calculate' button.

The calculator shows the total RRP of the purchase as well as the total rental cost and related monthly rental payment for this.

WestWon's Jeremy Hall explains, "The iPad calculator is a free to-use online tool designed to help schools with funding for digital learning We offer tailored solutions for schools investing in digital learning.}} These can include lease or purchase options, iPad-specific insurance, device asset management and parental donation schemes.
