Meeting room caddy wins prestigious award

Interform Manufacturing Ltd, a specialist thermoplastic vacuum forming company, worked with Kimberly-Clark Limited to produce their innovative meeting room caddy, which was recently awarded with the 'Best Facilities Management Product of the Year' at the 2013 European Office Product Awards.

The vacuum formed caddy contains tissues, hand wipes and antibacterial liquid hand gel, and neatly slots into a meeting desk to encourage office workers to use the products and create a hygienic workplace. The sleek design combined with caddy being available in both a steel and wood finish allows for sanitation products to be at hand in practical locations, whilst maintaining the aesthetics of an office.

Jonathan Green, Research and Evaluation, Kimberly-Clark Ltd comments, "We are absolutely thrilled to have received this award. The team at Interform Manufacturing were an integral part of the development process. Throughout the design and manufacturing process they provided exceptional customer service and technical support, and it has been a pleasure to work with them."

Tim Spalton, Managing Director, Interform Manufacturing, adds "The sleek curvature of the caddy and the requirement for it to be produced in two finishes meant that this design was perfect for vacuum forming. We are delighted to hear that the caddies have won such a prestigious award and we look forward to working together with Kimberly-Clark in the future."
