Leading international RPO and talent management specialist, Ochre House, has been ranked as a top agency for multi-region RPO in the 2013 Everest Group PEAK report.

In its Recruitment Process Outsourcing Service Provider Landscape PEAK Matrix Assessment 2013, industry analysts, Everest Group, identified and recognised the RPO providers with outstanding performance in delivery of large multi-country services (MCRPO).

The report ranked Ochre House as not only a service provider that signed more than five multi-country deals in 2012 (excluding partnerships), but also one of the top four organisations with the most experience in this area.

Sue Brooks, Managing Director of Ochre House commented on the company's PEAK success; "As one of only a few services providers in the PEAK report with sufficient experience in MCRPO deals, we are pleased to have been ranked so highly. In a global business economy, talent is an important worldwide commodity which all organisations need to tap into. We hope to continue and even grow this quality of multi-country service for our clients over the coming year."
