A Lancashire wedding favours company helped to put a big smile on the face of a rather famous bride recently after supplying some of its specialised items for the bride's big day.

Barnoldswick based UK Wedding Favours have helped many couples make their day extra special over the last fifteen years with a very comprehensive range of wonderful wedding favour ideas, but the company were delighted when one of their most recent customers was none other than TV presenter and model Melanie Sykes.

'I think everyone loves Melanie Sykes as she seems such a lovely lady whenever we have seen her on the TV', explained a spokesperson for UK Wedding Favours. 'When we got the order from her for her big day, we were thrilled. Not just because she is so well known but also because she is a good northern lass too!'

Melanie Sykes is a well known face to millions of people. She first came to the public's attention when she appeared in a TV advert selling ice creams as part of a beer advertising campaign, but she has since gone to present many different TV programmes and series including Loose Women, The Paul O'Grady Show (alongside Des O'Connor) and Gene Detectives. It seems that Melanie must have been extremely impressed with the items supplied by UK Wedding Favours as she made a special point of sending them a personal thank you that read 'A massive thank you to UK wedding favours (<http://www.ukweddingfavours.co.uk>) for the exquisite little personalised boxes of chocolates. What speedy service and beautiful favours. A million thank you's! Xxxxxx.'

'It was lovely of Melanie to write such nice things about our chocolates, but we are delighted to say that we get wonderful feedback from our customers all the time', explained a spokesperson from UK Wedding Favours. 'Even though we have been in the business over fifteen years, it is always nice to know that our customers are delighted with what we do, and on their special day that is what really matters.'

UK Wedding Favours is the UK's leading online supplier of wedding favours, offering beautiful designs of ready made and DIY wedding favours complemented by stunning wedding reception table decor as well as many other unique, personalised items like the chocolates supplied to Melanie Sykes.
