Work has started on the first garden for a bachelor pad to be exhibited at the world famous RHS Hampton Court Palace Flower Show. Designed by Dan Bowyer 'The Garden Pad' has been designed for a bachelor who enjoys the finer things in life and wants a contemporary space for relaxing and entertaining both during the day and especially at night.

Dan said "The design is focussed on creating the perfect atmosphere for entertaining and features stained black ash walls especially treated for outdoor use, a fireplace is an ideal evening focal point from stylish seating made for two."

Dan was inspired by Central London apartment (http://www.andrewfishertomlin.com/london\_gardens.htm) developments aimed at young city professionals that often have small gardens needing design inspiration. He added "small modern gardens can often concentrate on the hard landscape but my garden aims to show a balance between hard materials and plants. Slick paving and screens are built within a planting of birch trees and other plants designed to provide maximum summer enjoyment."

RHS Hampton Court Palace Flower Show runs from 8th to 14th July 2013. This is Dan Bowyer's first show garden and comes ahead of Fisher Tomlin & Bowyer's collaboration with Tom Harfleet at the Australian Garden Show Sydney in September 2013.
