The Payroll Site has moved to a larger office after the introduction of Real Time Information brought a flood of new customers. The new office in Bushey, Hertfordshire is just 500m from the previous office.

Employers must now send information to HMRC every pay day, instead of waiting to the end of the tax year.

The Payroll (<http://www.thepayrollsite.co.uk>) Site enables small businesses to manage their own payrolls online and to send Real Time Information to HMRC.

Managing Director Steven Tucker explained, "Small businesses are getting their systems in order so they can keep up with the new requirements. Many are finding that our online system solves their problem nicely."

The Payroll Site gained its 5000th customer in April, soon after Real Time Information became mandatory for all small businesses. The Payroll Site has expanded its customer service team this year and is now increasing its software development team, so new features can be added more rapidly.
