A freelance writer from London who quit her job last year to make a full-time living online has released an eBook about how to start a travel blog (<http://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/B00F2PPRFG>) and make good money from it.

Kirsty Stuart, from Wimbledon set up www.freelancewritersonline.com (<http://www.freelancewritersonline.com>) to help other writers dissatisfied with the nine to five drudgery of corporate life. With her new eBook she's now encouraging readers to take the leap into paid travel blogging and leave the old model of full-time work completely behind.

'People think making money from travel blogging (<http://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/B00F2PPRFG>) is just a pipedream but I'm proof that you can make good money from it,' says Kirsty. 'Although it's a practical book, I wrote it to give people the belief and confidence that if they work hard they can make this lifestyle a reality.'

The result is a book that first dispels a few myths about travel blogging and then delves straight into a hands-on guide about how to start a travel blog and monetise it. It then looks at how travel bloggers can start to think about making a full-time income from combining this strategy with blogging for other travel websites.

Everybody has to be online these days and travel companies are no exception,' says Kirsty. 'Part Two of the book reveals how I've made a lucrative income from travel blogging for others and how to add services on to your blogging to maximise the amount of income you can get from it.'

How to Start a Travel Blog and Make Money (<http://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/B00F2PPRFG>) is out now and available as an eBook on Kindle. If you're an Amazon Prime member you can borrow it for free for a limited time.
