

Property & Investing Business Exhibition Essex

Submitted by: Lovebusinessexpo

Tuesday, 22 October 2013

Love Property Expo, something to invest in.

For immediate release

Love Property Expo is a brand new property business exhibition for landlords, property investors and those in related industries and will be held on 28th November at the newly refurbished Austin Hotel in Essex from 12 - 6pm.

Love Property Expo has been developed by prestigious Essex based events company Love Business Group, who have a strong background in developing and implementing leading business exhibitions and networking events.

Visitors will have plenty of opportunity to meet others with a mutual interest in property, find out about property and investing opportunities including investing in single homes, HMOs, commercial property and overseas investments as well as other forms of investing.

Aside of the main expo, which will feature over 30 businesses from the property, investing and related industries, there will be speed networking sessions run throughout the day as well as workshops led by industry professionals, giving visitors the opportunity to learn about varying subjects related to property and investing. They will also be hosting a complimentary drinks reception from 6-7pm giving visitors, exhibitors, sponsors and partners further opportunity to network.

Throughout the recession, the property sector and housing market has been high on the agenda. The property industry is pivotal to economic recovery as it is linked to unemployment rates, as well as the retail, office and construction industries. The property sector expectations have become more optimistic in recent months, with signs of healthy growth. Experts are even announcing that it is approaching the point at which recovery could become self sustaining.

Investment activity has increased, with 40,000 mortgages advanced for buy to let house purchases. London still remains the global hub, with the outer London areas including Havering being viewed as safe haven investment locations.

Love Property Expo acknowledges these advancements within the property sector and has designed the Expo to be as productive and informative as possible, giving visitors the knowledge and confidence to invest, or continue investing effectively during this economical downturn and attain a strong property portfolio.

Love Property Expo is free for all visitors who have pre-registered via the website (<http://www.lovepropertyexpo.biz>) or £20 on the day. When registering for tickets, visitors also have the opportunity to donate from just £5, the proceeds of which will go to Partner Charities Anchor House and Havering based charity and homeless shelter Hope 4 Havering.

“The property industry is on the up and many people are considering investing in property and other investment opportunities. The Expo is the ideal place to come and find out more about the industry and where to start with investing. And for the seasoned pros, it’s a great place to network with other industry professionals, find potential joint venture partners and so much more.” Jade Stoner, Event Organiser Love Property Expo are also offering exhibition packages at £279.00 and sponsorship packages at £1,700. Call 0203 143 3887 to enquire.

-End-

NOTES FOR EDITORS

For all media enquiries please contact:

Hayley Smith|Managing Director|Boxed Out PR|07415116515 hayley.smith@boxedoutpr.com|@BoxedOutPR

For further comment please contact:

Jade Stoner|Managing Director|Love Business Expo|0845 431 0305
jade@lovebusinessexpo.biz|@lovebusinessexp|@lovepropertyexp