

CCTV images released after gunpoint robbery in Bradford

Submitted by: AlertSystems

Friday, 18 July 2014

Detectives have issued a number of CCTV images showing four robbers raiding a Bradford business at gunpoint.

The criminals targeted the business in Legrams Lane around 9.30am on 15th July. One of the men, wearing dark clothing with his face covered, was carrying a gun when he walked on to the premises. The staff member on duty saw the man with the gun and ran to a safe area of the building where luckily they remained unharmed.

Another two members of the group, who were also wearing dark clothing, then entered the premises and stole a large amount of cash and cigarettes. They were also wearing face coverings. During the robbery they used a distinctive quilt cover bearing the motto 'Keep Calm and Carry On'. One of the robbers was also wearing an Adidas hooded sports top. The clothing had the sport company's logo written on the back of the hood.

The group then proceeded to leave the premises in a silver Ford Galaxy car. The car appeared to have tinted windows and roof bars.

Fortunately, nobody was injured in the raid, although police are eager to identify the criminals as soon as possible. There is a call for anyone who recognises the quilt or the clothing, or who knows someone possessing similar items to contact the police.

A spokesperson from AlertSystems, states: "Using CCTV footage provides the Police with crucial information that may be missed simply from witness statements. The fact that specific items of clothing have been identified from the footage could prove to be incredibly useful. Commercial security systems (<http://www.alertsystems.co.uk/>) provide business owners with the extra security they need, as well as valuable peace of mind. Owning effective CCTV could provide Police with crucial images to bring criminals to justice."

AlertSystems manage and maintain over 5000 security installations throughout the UK and are specialists in providing business security solutions. Offering professional service and a complete range of security services such as monitored alarm systems, Automatic Number Plate Recognition and Avigilon CCTV security systems. AlertSystems offers effective and reliable solutions to security problems.