Leading UK car warranty provider, Click4Warranty, comments on Citroen's further extended warranty across C3, C4 and C5 models.

Citroen has made the decision to extend its already industry-leading six-year warranty. This is so it covers its entire passenger line up. This is a progression from their DS, and Grand C4 Picasso ranges which introduced the scheme earlier this year.

The only vehicle to retain its previous three-year warranty is the light commercial Berlingo. The C3 light hatch, C4 small hatch and C5 mid-size sedan and wagon models will be covered by the full six-year, unlimited kilometre warranty.

This six-year term also includes capped price servicing and roadside assistance. It is fully transferable between vehicle owners also.

If the Citroen vehicle requires repair or replacement as a result of a manufacturing or material defect within the warranty period, the part will be repaired or replaced free of charge by an authorised dealer.

Citroen's warranties stands alone compared to other automakers. It is one of the only companies to offer a six-year warranty period. Many manufacturers offer five-year terms, but the French brand covers double the three-year industry standard.

Even after a six-year extended warranty, many customers may still want to take up a new warranty. There are a number of different warranties which can be provided independently or from place of purchase. It is important to make sure that your warranty is right for you and your vehicle. They can offer you the same benefits as your original warranty, and are, therefore, a worthwhile investment.

A spokesperson from Click4Warranty, stated: 'Car manufacturers providing this kind of extended warranty is fantastic for customers. Especially for those who are using their vehicles on a day to day basis for work purposes. The unlimited kilometre warranty means that those who put their vehicles to full use can still reap the benefits of an extended warranty. This release is fantastic for Citroen.

'There are still many car manufacturers who only provide three-year warranties with capped mileage. When your warranty runs out, or is not covered for specific problems, this could leave you in a sticky financial situation. At this point, you are able to purchase a separate contract depending on your vehicle's condition. At Click4Warranty, we understand that drivers need a warranty which fits their vehicle and specific needs.'
