

AlertSystems reviews CCTV images of Merseyside pub attack suspect

Submitted by: AlertSystems

Thursday, 4 September 2014

Police have launched a CCTV footage appeal in order to try and catch a violent offender, after a man suffered a broken jaw in an unprovoked attack in a local Merseyside pub.

Trouble arose at The Clairville, in Wallasey Road, Liscard, Wirral, when the 20-year-old victim was punched in the face and left unconscious with his jaw fractured in two places. The attack took place at around 1.10 am on Sunday May 11th and footage has now been released of the man Police wish to speak to in relation to the incident.

Detective Inspector Paul Parry explained that the victim is currently making a good recovery, and that Police are now in the process of bringing those responsible to justice, claiming that "as part of our enquiries, we have issued CCTV stills of a man whom we believe may have vital information that could help with our investigation." He went on to encourage those who may recognise the man from the footage to get in touch as soon as possible.

A spokesperson from AlertSystems, commented on the incident.

"This is an ill-fated incident where an unprovoked assault has led to serious injury. Unfortunately, pubs, bars and clubs are often hotspots for this kind of violent activity.

"The installation of commercial CCTV security systems (<http://www.alertsystems.co.uk/products-cctv-systems.html>) is crucial. The cameras provide protection and security, not only to the business but also the customers. The recorded images give the police and opportunity to appeal for any witnesses or information.

"This is an effective method which is sure to bring a resolution to this particular incident, especially with the strength of social media today. Sharing CCTV images online helps authorities and businesses to resolve issues quicker than ever before."

AlertSystems manage and maintain thousands of commercial security installations throughout the UK and are specialists in providing business security solutions. Offering professional service and a complete range of security services such as monitored alarm systems, Automatic Number Plate Recognition and Avigilon CCTV security systems, AlertSystems provides effective and reliable solutions to security problems.