

Sportsdirect.com Offers The Chance To See Tony Hawk at Nass Festival, This Weekend

Submitted by: SportsDirect.com

Monday, 6 July 2015

One of the biggest skateboarding events in the UK, Nass Festival, takes place in Bath this weekend and leading sports retailer, Sportsdirect.com, offer the chance to win a pair of Saturday tickets for you and a friend, and a meet and greet with the legendary Tony Hawk.

With multiple tickets up for grabs across Instagram, Facebook and Twitter, there are plenty of chances to go see the skateboarding idol in person, but the day doesn't end there! Across the site there will be mountains of skating and BMX talent alongside performances by well-known bands such as Sigma and Enter Shikari.

All contestants have to do to enter is upload a skate related image to one of SportsDirect's social media platforms, with the hashtag #SDskateselfie* before 5pm Wednesday 8th July 2015, ready for the social media team to choose their favourite.

Winners will then be notified via email or social media before 10am on Thursday 9th July 2015 and will have just two hours to reply, in order to secure their tickets.

For any more information, please see the full terms and conditions at <http://www.sportsdirect.com/skate-selfie-terms>.

Or to enter, check out their Facebook www.facebook.com/SportsDirectUK, Twitter and Instagram pages (@SportsDirectUK).

For all media enquiries please contact danielle.harrod@sportsdirect.com or 08703339413

*Requirements may vary on different social media platforms. See Terms and Conditions.