Aqueous Digital (<http://www.aqueous-digital.co.uk/>), based at The Heath Business and Technical Park in Runcorn, have recently celebrated another successful year in business.

Following their recent year-end which saw turnover and profits grow for the fourth year in a row, they are also celebrating the continuation of their Google Partner (https://www.google.com/partners/#a\_profile;idtf=2936596035;) status and becoming an RAR Recommended Agency.

Google Partners is Google's programme for advertising agencies, digital marketing professionals and other online consultants. The Partnership means that the Agency is qualified to handle Pay per Click advertising programmes for clients and that the staff are suitably trained to give best practice advice to customers.

Jonathan Guy, Managing Director said;

"We are thrilled to be able to continue our association with Google as a Partner Agency as we have worked hard to first gain and now retain our accreditation. It is a testament to the hard work of all the team at Aqueous that we can celebrate this achievement".

On top of this the Agency were also recently added to the RAR Recommended Agency register, allowing them to be checked and verified by potential customers before committing to a long term relationship.

Jonathan added, "As all of our business requires long-term relationships with our customers we felt it important to provide the level of transparency and credibility given by the RAR Scheme. The scheme allows potential customers to choose from thousands of agencies rated and reviewed by clients and to choose from a range of professional companies.
