Fircroft's plans to consolidate its position as a leading provider of global workforce solutions to the engineering, automotive and oil & gas sectors have been boosted this week with the appointment of Simon Preston as Director of Finance.

Joining Fircroft with over a decade of experience in finance, Preston was previously Head of Group Finance at a major private provider of healthcare and prior to that, Manager at a big-four Assurance practice.

Welcoming the appointment Fircroft's Chief Finance Officer, Stuart Hall, said:

"Simon brings a valuable set of skills and experience at a key time in Fircroft's development. We have ambitious plans for growth and market penetration and as Director of Finance, Simon will be accountable for ensuring that Fircroft's finance global reporting is in the best possible position to support these plans."

"Driving best-in-class financial reporting, Simon will bring a renewed focus on timeliness, accuracy and risk reduction whilst also sharing international best practice in foreign exchange and will lead finance reporting across the global footprint of the business."

Commenting on his new position, Simon Preston, said:

"I am delighted to be joining Fircroft at a time of change, transformation and growth. As Director of Finance I'm relishing the opportunity to put the business on the best possible financial footing as we look to consolidate our position as a global leader in technical recruitment."
