European information management professionals gather to hear from an impressive line-up of thought leaders

June 08, 2016 – The changing role of the information professional and how organisations gain competitive edge from information, will be key themes at the upcoming AIIM Forum UK (<http://www.aiimforum.co.uk/>), which takes place on 22 June 2016 in London.

The annual forum – Europe's premier event for the information management community - will see an impressive line-up of thought leaders gather to discuss how information systems can be better leveraged to minimise risk, redefine business processes and prepare for sustained growth.

Keynote speakers at AIIM Forum UK include: outgoing AIIM (<http://www.aiim.org/>) President John Mancini, whose opening speech is entitled 'Crawling from the Chaos: The Future of the Information Profession' (<http://www.aiimforum.co.uk/programme/aiimkeynote>); Spencer Wyer, Group Chief Technology Officer, EDM Group who is presenting on 'Digital Mailroom to Robotics' (<http://www.aiimforum.co.uk/programme/edmkeynote>) and 'ECM re-imagined' (<http://www.aiimforum.co.uk/programme/>) by Toby Bell, ECM Marketing and Offering Strategy Lead at IBM Corporation.

"The three forces of consumerisation, cloud / mobile and the Internet of Things have been playing havoc with traditional information systems," said John Mancini, AIIM. "We want to look at the changing role of the information professional amidst this chaos and to explore how organisations can really exploit the value of the information they hold – information is fast becoming the true key to competitive advantage."

There will be a number of sessions and discussions all through the day, which focus on sharing with delegates the tools and best practice expertise to help them address the information challenges they are facing, and how to make best use of their information assets. Session leaders include thought leaders from organisations such as: ibml; Search Technologies; Restore; Deltascheme; Crown Records Management; CCube Solutions; Repstor and CompanyNet; Harmon.ie; Twofold and Star Storage.

Bringing AIIM Forum UK to a close will be a panel discussion on Europe, Privacy & the New General Data Protection Regulations. The panel will feature the following industry experts:

- CHAIR: Atle Skjekkeland, SVP, AIIM
- PANELLISTS: Ralph O'Brien, Principal Consultant, TRUSTe*
- Ashley Roughton, IP & IT Specialist Lawyer, Nabarro LLP*
