If you're compiling a list of Christmas gifts and want something:

- Original
- Under a tenner
- Tech – inspired
- Great for kids, grandchildren etc.

Then please consider the BoxHead Craft Box Head available from www.boxheadcraft.co.uk

Designed and registered in the UK this year these clever little boxes encourage kids to put their games consoles down so they can craft and play the old fashioned way!

Inspired by Minecraft, Terraria and Lego the boxes retail at £6 each and are a great success with parents who have a hard time separating their children from their tech.

Ideas and inspiration can be found at BoxHead Craft's website (<http://www.boxheadcraft.co.uk>), Facebook page (<http://www.facebook.com/boxheadcraft>), and YouTube Channel (https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCK2mAiPHHTf-WMQ_v6B8JJw).

Here's what a couple of mums say...

"My boys (5&8) loved getting creative this afternoon with their Box Heads. Both lads came out very proud of their creations and are currently trying to decide where to put them in their bedroom!"

"My son loves Minecraft and his Box Head which he got as a gift! Great pressie and brilliant for a party idea as party packs of 12. Really recommend."
