

'Accept Card Payments' Offers Free & Independent Payment Solutions Advice

Submitted by: Accept Card Payments

Monday, 10 April 2017

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Payment Solution Provider Launches Service To Reduce Merchant Costs.

Bristol UK, Monday 20th March 2017 – A UK based payment solutions provider has announced the launch of its anticipated card payment advisory service, which is now available to UK businesses of all sizes and across all markets, free of charge.

The service from 'Accept Card Payments' is designed to enable businesses across the country to begin accepting card payments, by removing the barriers that often discourage some businesses from adding cards to their business operating model. Whether because of a lack of understanding of the fee structure, confusion over the merchant account type or simply not knowing where to begin, 'Accept Card Payments' provides a free and independent advisory service to match businesses with the right accounts to meet their specific needs.

With an ever increasing number of businesses establishing an online and mobile presence, adding cards to existing payment methods is becoming more important, without which, businesses stand to lose revenue. Businesses that add card payments to their options see on average a sales increase of 20-25% initially. This is not only down to cards providing a safer and more trusted payment option, but also due to the other advantages which open up, such as mail, telephone and online sales opportunities.

Managing Director John Higgins commented: "Our advisory service will cut through the confusion for our clients and provide them with independent advice to help them start accepting card payments sooner. Being independent, we're committed to the highest levels of customer services and pride ourselves on our expertise in this niche."

John Higgins continued: "Our research found a considerable number of businesses are actually running poorly matched, and in some cases, totally unsuitable merchant accounts. This means paying higher rates for card services and losing out on potential profit. We can also help businesses in these situations to switch to a tailored package for a better deal all round."

For further details, please visit the official website at www.acceptcardpayments.com.

About AcceptCardPayments:

Accept Card Payments prides itself on customer service. It's what makes the company stand out from the crowd in an already busy marketplace. The company offers the service and guidance to help find the best payment solution that is right for your business. The experience the company has with payment solutions makes them a valuable business partner to both small and independent businesses as well as large international companies.

Media Contact:

Contact: John Higgins

Email: hello@acceptcardpayments.com

Tel: 0333 305 4500

Web: www.acceptcardpayments.com

- Release ends