Thursday, 9 November 2017

Direct Save Telecom have launched their latest consumer packages for fast broadband and superfast fibre, maintaining them as the UK's lowest priced broadband and telecom provider.

Direct Save prides itself on offering the UK's cheapest broadband (<https://www.directsavetelecom.co.uk/broadband-deal.php>) and home telephone deals (<https://www.directsavetelecom.co.uk/line-rental.php>), both on contract and non-contract basis. The budget telco has seen its customer base grow steadily in the last 5 years, with corresponding increases in the number of customer support staff at their Watford headquarters guaranteeing their commitment to UK-based call centre support.

"There can now be no question, our range of unlimited broadband deals are the cheapest in the UK," explains Stavros Tsolakis, CEO of Direct Save Telecom.

"We have been working on these deals for some time now. We've always prided ourselves on being the lowest costing provider in the UK and are continuing to offer our customers the cheapest possible deals."

"For those who want the lowest price possible, we have our fast broadband at only GBP17.95 per month with unlimited data usage, free wireless router and no upfront costs. Superfast fibre is only GBP29.95 per month. "

"Customers who don't want to be tied to a contract can select our No Contract Unlimited Broadband Deal for only GBP29.95 per month or No Contract Superfast Fibre for only GBP42.95 per month, both come with a free wireless router and have upfront costs of only GBP24.95. With these low priced no contract deals, customers can try us and then upgrade to a cheaper contract deal at a later date."

Tsolakis adds: "We believe this is great news for consumers, especially with the pressures on the household budget with Christmas round the corner."

About Direct Save Telecom:

Direct Save Telecom (www.directsavetelecom.co.uk) is an independent telephone service provider. It was created in 2003, and was borne out of Utilities UK Ltd which was one of UK's largest energy agencies at that time. Since its creation, Direct Save Telecom has seen a steady growth built on reputation for providing both savings and quality of service. It is committed to offering customers greater value for money for their telecom needs, combined with excellent UK-based customer care and technical help.
