Runcorn based Digital Agency, Aqueous Digital (<http://aqueous-digital.co.uk/>), are marking the new year with a move to new offices at Sutton Quays Business Park, Sutton Weaver.

The company, established in 2011 by Jonathan Guy, provides SEO, PPC and Digital Marketing services (<http://www.aqueous-digital.co.uk/what-we-do>) to customers across the UK and the Middle East.

The firm has been in the news over the past two years as they have more than doubled in size and in February 2017 they won the Marketing Excellence Award at the Halton Business Awards. Aqueous is still on target to hit the previously reported £1m turnover target set for the end of 2019.

Jonathan said "The continued success of the firm and our rapid growth means that we had outgrown our home at The Heath Business and Technical Park in Runcorn."

"The new offices, just off Junction 12 of the M56, gives us scope to double again and supports our long-term ambition to be the Search Specialists of choice for firms in the North West"

He added, "As we grow we will be looking to employ more local people and helping to drive the growth that is such a feature of Halton and Merseyside.

"At Aqueous we are very confident that the future will continue to provide opportunities and see a continuation of the growth in customer demand"

"We are investing heavily in training and developing our staff and expect that this will form the cornerstone for our sustainable growth throughout 2018 and 2019."

Aqueous nationwide client base ranges from professional services firms such as solicitors and accountants to hire companies, colleges, online retailers and IT support businesses.
