A Scunthorpe-based law firm is celebrating after one of the firm's trainee solicitors achieved full qualification.

Amy Kavanagh is now a fully qualified solicitor working in the Conveyancing department at QualitySolicitors Bradbury Roberts & Raby, where she specialises in matters relating to conveyancing, leasehold property, property law, remortgaging, and transferring of titles.

After having completed her LLB Law degree at the University of Derby and then going on to complete her Legal Practice Course at the University of Law in Leeds, Amy then went on to join the Conveyancing Department at QualitySolicitors Bradbury Roberts & Raby as a trainee solicitor in November 2015.

Amy said: "I am delighted to have qualified as a solicitor. As a result of my experiences I have learnt that no two situations or clients are the same; consequently I ensure that the service I provide is suited to the individual client. I am now looking forward to being able to develop my skills further as I work closely with our clients to ensure they receive the best possible service here at QualitySolicitors Bradbury Roberts & Raby. "

Matthew Inman, Partner and Head of the Property department at QualitySolicitors added: "We would all like to congratulate Amy on her achievement. Since joining us as a trainee, she has shown great determination and I look forward to seeing her continue to build on her strengths and progress her career with us."
