RewardMob Digital Inc. (<https://rewardmob.com>), has partnered with ePlay Studios (<https://eplaystudios.com>) to integrate RewardMob's Mobile eSports platform, offering free-to-play contests on both iOS and Android. The first game release will be launched in March and will offer competitors the chance to win prizes, real money and cryptocurrency.

ePlay is an independent game development studio which focuses on making high quality, fun and competitive games. Their current portfolio of games features racing, sports and quiz titles all of which are designed to optimize and compliment the Mobile eSports tournament environment.

Justin Graysmark, Founder ePlay Studios, said, "RewardMob has the potential to create an additional revenue stream for our games through their free-to-play tournaments. We are also excited to see the launch of cryptocurrency rewards in our titles and the increase in engagement that the platform will bring.

"We are one of the first adopters of real cash competitions in mobile games, which allows more and more people to experience the thrill of casual esports".

Co-founder and CEO at RewardMob Todd Koch said, "Justin and the team at ePlay Studios fully understand the benefit that Mobile eSports tournaments can bring to their titles, not only from a monetization perspective, but also game discovery, player retention and engagement angle. ePlay have been an early adopter of Mobile eSports technology so we are really excited in being a part of their future success."

RewardMob launched officially on January 13 2018 and has already registered 50,000 competitors. Over 3 million rewards have been earned by players and 3.8 million RMOB tokens have been awarded. Since launch, 1.2 million unique tournament entries have been made and their Telegram group has passed 20,000 users. At present, RewardMob has over 30,000 people pre-registered for their first tournament ticket sale starting on Tuesday 13 March, 2018.

The RewardMob app can be downloaded through the iTunes App Store or Google Play. Visit <https://ticketsale.rewardmob.com/> for more details on the ticket sale.
