Greenfield Recovery are inviting company directors to visit and explore their new insolvency website (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk>)

Designed to be director (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk/directors-owners/>) centric, it's a growing insolvency resource published by a licensed insolvency practice (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk/about-us/licensed-insolvency-practice/>). It has lots of insight into recognising & managing financial distress, as well as restructuring (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk/about-us/company-restructuring/>) and insolvency (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk/about-us/company-insolvency/>). There are articles, case studies, frequently asked questions, guides, videos, testimonials and more.

In addition, a 'live' chat facility allows directors immediate access to insolvency advice with an industry expert to address pressing insolvency concerns.

18 months in its creation, the web site utilises the latest web technology providing an experience that's secure, fast, interactive, intuitive, informative and able to raise insolvency awareness in the business community at large through social sharing and discussion.

Already, early website visitor statistics demonstrate that the new insolvency resource is being well received by directors and that it's a good platform for future growth.
