CIPHR announces series of expert talks at CIPD HR and Recruitment Software Show 2018

13 companies will take to CIPHR's stage to showcase how technology is solving HR's most pressing problems

More than a dozen experts will share their expertise with delegates at the CIPD HR and Recruitment Software Show 2018 in a series of free talks hosted by leading HR and recruitment software provider CIPHR.

Held across the show's two days, 13-14 June, the 30-minute presentations will showcase how innovative technologies are seeking to solve some of HR's most pressing problems. They'll be hosted by a range of experts from CIPHR's partner companies, including Abintegro, Benefex, RSM, Totem, Digits and Webexpenses.

Visitors to the free show in London's Olympia can either turn up for the presentations on the day at stand F10 or reserve one of a limited number of places online at www.ciphr.com/hrss-speaker-schedule.

"Our fantastic line-up of talks gives visitors to the CIPD HR and Recruitment Software Show 2018 an extra opportunity to brush up their knowledge of the latest HR trends and technological developments," says David Richter, head of marketing at CIPHR. "It's a genuine opportunity to learn about some of the key factors shaping the profession today without having to endure endless sales pitches."

Richter added: "Those not able to make it on the day won't miss out – video recordings of the presentations will be available shortly afterwards on our website, www.ciphr.com."

One-to-one demonstrations of CIPHR's HR and recruitment solutions at the show are also available to book now by calling 01628 814 242 or visiting www.ciphr.com/hrss-demo/.
