Fast growing professional services company strengthens resources in its health sector team.

London, 25th June 2018 Professional Services Technology Group (<http://www.pstg.co.uk>) announced today that Tracy Scriven has joined the company to further develop their growing healthcare accounts. Tracy comes with a wealth of experience within the sector having spent the last eight years at WiFi SPARK where she was instrumental in acquiring and managing many NHS Trusts and Health Boards.

Tracy joins PSTG as Director of Healthcare to continue their success providing technology solutions and services that will help the NHS on its digital transformation journey. Tracy comments "I have always been impressed by PSTG's integrity, agility, proactiveness and dedication to the healthcare sector, so I am excited to start a new challenge within the company. Technology is without question the key differentiator in the delivery of excellence for the NHS and working with PSTG gives me a much a broader solution and services portfolio to call upon to embrace the unique needs of healthcare"

Enzo Daniele, Managing Director said "Tracy's wealth of experience and sector knowledge makes her the obvious choice to lead our specialist healthcare team. We have ambitious plans to grow PSTG's market share in the healthcare sector by delivering technology solutions, professional and managed services to NHS Trusts across the UK. Tracy will play a major role in delivering these goals"

Enzo added, "The NHS is making significant progress with their digital transformation journey. Our main priority is to continue our investments in technology innovation and services that enable NHS organisations to deliver on their transformation commitments, and ultimately provide better patient care".
