It has just been announced that Sanj Gidda, CEO of MIDLANDS based VoozoDealer has been shortlisted for the 2018 NatWest Great British Entrepreneur Awards in the Service Industries Entrepreneur of the Year award.

Sanj Gidda beat off some tough competition in order to make the regional shortlist, with a record number of businesses entering the awards nationally across a wide range of categories.

Now in its sixth year, the NatWest Great British Entrepreneur Awards has celebrated some amazing entrepreneurs over the years, many of whom are now household names. Past winners include David Buttress of Just Eat, Julie Deane OBE of The Cambridge Satchel Company, James Watt of BrewDog and most recently, Hannah and Sophie Pycroft of Spectrum Collections.

VoozoDealer is a Wolverhampton based Car Leasing & Automotive Software company, digitising the car buying process, aiming to take the hassle out of vehicle ownership. With more people moving into personal leases, instead of vehicle ownership, VoozoDealer helps make driving a nice car for less, a reality for the many. At a time when the automotive industry is going through a rough patch with government policy and Brexit impacting consumer confidence, it's great to see some good news within the automotive sector.

VoozoDealer CEO, Sanj Gidda, says: "Being recognised and nominated by the Natwest Great British Entrepreneur Awards is an honour and incredibly humbling, all of which has only been possible with the support of my team and family. Entrepreneurs often make significant sacrifices to realise their dreams, however far-fetched they may seem. I hope these awards inspire the next generation of visionaries to take that leap of faith and make their dreams a reality.

Creator of the Awards, Francesca James, said: "We have been inundated with some incredible entries this year, and all shortlisted applicants should be extremely proud of themselves! This year has yet again seen a record number of entrants and we've been absolutely blown away by the strength and diversity of applications."

"We cannot wait to celebrate entrepreneurship across Great Britain with them, and put a spotlight on the incredible talent within the British entrepreneur ecosystem."

Gordon Merrylees, Head of Entrepreneurship at NatWest said: "Following another record-breaking year, I want to thank all of the entrepreneurs who entered and congratulate those who have been shortlisted, I look forward to seeing them at the regional finals."

"Entrepreneurial spirit is still clearly alive and well, and NatWest is thrilled to be able to continue to support these awards to celebrate success with the businesses that are the lifeblood of the UK Economy as they start, scale and succeed."

The NatWest Great British Entrepreneur Awards will celebrate entrepreneurship across a number of categories at 5 gala finals across the UK, including; Cardiff, Birmingham, Edinburgh, Manchester & London. You can find more information about the awards and the ceremonies here:
