Thanks to Google we can all get to know everything about almost everything. But besides the often contradictory information, your search for knowledge often can lead to a marathon of hours between blogs, vlogs, and movies. Calltheone.com changes your journey into instant contact with an expert.

Via calltheone.com you can search for any subject and instantly knowledgeable experts will appear from all over the world on your screen. With one push at the button, you create a live video connection and the expert will instantly answer all your questions. As you usually pay your lawyer, gardener or mechanic per hour, within calltheone.com the first-minute consult is for free and the rest of the time you pay a fixed fee per minute.

You don't need to be a professional to have expertise

Calltheone.com makes sharing and asking for knowledge easy, accessible and affordable for everyone. Not only as a seasoned professional but also as a consumer with passion about a subject, you often possess a lot of knowledge. Even if it is only about your last holiday destination or the plants that you have been flowering gracefully in your garden for years. On birthdays we tell plainly about what we all know and what we have experience with. Via calltheone.com you can now also earn something from your lazy chair. And as a professional, it can be a welcome addition to the long queue ride.

Thanks to the profile of the expert and the feedback assessment method, the applicant immediately sees whether the professional or consumer will meet expectations. And if it is a mismatch, you'll find out quickly enough and it often only costs a few euros.

The platform has only just started, so it may take some time, but because calltheone.com is available worldwide, knowledge from all over the world will soon be available. So even if your Wifi goes down in the middle of the night, there is always an expert who can help you.

Companies also use calltheone.com. IT and electronics chain MyCom.nl has connected all its employees and presents them on its site. For example, some employees can also be reached outside of opening hours for good advice. Many companies have already signed up to set up their service desk in this way. The advantage for the consumer is not only accessibility. Thanks to the profile of the employee you as a consumer know immediately whether you are getting the right person on the line with the right knowledge about your question.
