Leading global talent acquisition and management firm, Alexander Mann Solutions (<http://alexandermansolutions.com/>), has been named the number one global Recruitment Process Outsourcing (RPO) provider in the annual HRO Today Baker's Dozen rankings.

This marks the 12th consecutive year that the company has finished in the top four of the global list, a track record of success that is unmatched by any other provider in the industry.

The Baker's Dozen rankings are based solely on feedback from buyers of the rated services which is collected annually through an online survey and measures the quality and breadth of services offered, and the size of deals.

Rosaleen Blair, Founder and CEO of Alexander Mann Solutions, commented on this success:

"We're delighted to once again earn this recognition for the quality and breadth of service we deliver and the can-do attitude that our amazing teams show every day. The Baker's Dozen rankings are particularly important to us as they demonstrate the direct value our clients are noting through our work and it truly demonstrates that Alexander Mann Solutions is a global leader in RPO. As worldwide skills shortages and the on-going evolution of international workforces challenges businesses further, we will continue to innovate, develop and deploy ever more progressive total workforce solutions to overcome these challenges."

"Congratulations to Alexander Mann Solutions! Our global 2018 survey shows that clients around the world are concerned about the acquisition of talent and skills.' Elliot Clark, CEO of SharedXpertise and HRO Today, commented. About the HRO Today Baker's Dozen ranking

HRO Today Baker's Dozen rankings are based solely on feedback from buyers of the rated service; the ratings are not based on the opinion of the HRO Today staff. HRO Today collects global feedback annually through an online survey in order to determine an overall ranking, analyse results across three sub categories: service breadth, size and quality. Using a predetermined algorithm that weighs questions and categories based on importance, calculates scores in all three sub categories as well as the overall. The rankings are based purely on these scores. While HRO Today do not claim that their methodology is the only viable ratings programme available, they do vouch for its statistical validity.
