Greenfield Recovery are pleased to announce that they have been short listed as a finalist for the 'Best Use Of Technology Award' in the prestigious Turnaround, Restructuring and Insolvency (TRI) Awards 2018.

The Tri-awards are in their 11th year and celebrate the work of outstanding firms, teams and individuals in turnaround, funding, corporate restructuring, insolvency and personal debt.

This year the "number of candidates increased hugely" say Credit Strategy.

In being shortlisted, Greenfield Recovery (<https://www.greenfieldrecovery.co.uk/>) were able to demonstrate and prove to the independent panel of judges their commitment through technology to educating business owners about the 'decline and recovery' curve of insolvency and the benefit of early contact with an insolvency professional when in financial distress; maximising business recovery opportunity.

Richard Till, Managing Director said: "To be recognised for our hard work and commitment is fantastic. With our new web site and digital marketing dept, we are in a strong position to support customers, our business and meet future market and technology challenges".
